5. New Business

Moore shared that he has three guys right now working at the recycling center. There are continued complaints from residents about the barricades. The roll off truck is still in the budget, and if that goes through, we are still looking at 2-2 1/2 years before we get it.

Dinzeo asked to have a spot check for the center to confirm only residents are using the center. He asked for an hour in both the morning and afternoon, as well as police detail. He did share that non-residents are able to use only the construction and demolition station at the center. He also shared that the ordinances really don't state that nonresidents can't use the center.

Hackett stated maybe looking at the current ordinance and making some suggestions to move forward. We won't be able to get the police or personnel to do a spot check.

Moore stated they have done it in the past and it lasted about an hour and people were so upset because they didn't have a sticker to be able to enter the center for numerous reasons. He stated he would not do a spot check again without a police officer, because he has done it before and it didn't go well.

Moore stated we do get non-resident contractors for servicing Dover residents, and they are allowed to use the Construction and Debris station.

Surman questioned what about a code enforcement officer?

Clough stated that has not been approved in the past.

Moore shared about the extension update, Peter Lachapelle from Waste Management is looking to get together with John Storer and myself at some point next week to go over the extension proposal.

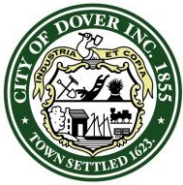

Dinzeo shared the plastic group reached out to share their goals and see what our goals are and collaborate about plastic.

6. Old Business

A. City Wide Clean up update

Clough stated there were 283 people that signed up for the event and attended. They picked up over one ton for the hour. She felt it was very successful. People were so excited and wanted to keep cleaning up Dover. She shared that she has started a group in Rochester and Somersworth, as well as she has an active group in Barrington. She shared someone has started a group in Milton as well. She shared that the Dover Main Street clean-up was a success also.

Hackett stated that there were many civic groups that volunteered to help out in addition to individuals with the Dover Main Street event as well.
